

Federico Lenzerini

Associate Professor, University of Siena - Department of Political and International Sciences .Federico Lenzerini is an expert in International Law and Human Rights, with multiple permanent and visiting academic positions. He has extensive experience working with both national governments and indigenous communities at the national and transnational levels, including UNESCO, the International Law Association, and the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs. His expertise aid CREDO's work in striving for just, inclusive, and pioneering international cultural relations.

LONG BIO

Federico Lenzerini is an Associate Professor of International Law and Human Rights at the Department of Political and International Sciences (DISPI) at the University of Siena. He is also Professor at the LLM programme in Intercultural Human Rights at the St. Thomas University School of Law, Miami (FL), USA, and Professor at the Tulane-Siena Summer School on International Law, Cultural Heritage and the Arts.

He is the Director of the Inter-University Centre for the Research on Human Rights and Immigration Law (CIRDUIS); Member of the Disciplinary Board of the University of Siena; Representative of the University of Siena at the Italian "Network of Universities for Peace" (RUNIPACE); Delegate of the Rector of the University of Siena for the Project "Just Peace"; Referee of the University of Siena for the UNHCR's Manifesto of the Inclusive University for Refugees; Member of the Commission of Research of the University of Siena; and Delegate of the Department of Political and International Sciences of the University of Siena for Research, Quality of Research and the Third Mission.

He has been Consultant to UNESCO (Paris) and Counsel to the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs for international negotiations related to cultural heritage.

He was the Rapporteur of the International Law Association (ILA) Committee on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and Rapporteur of the ILA Committee on the Implementation of the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. He is currently Deputy Head of the Hawaiian Kingdom's Royal Commission of Inquiry.

He has been visiting professor in several foreign universities, including the University of Texas in Austin, the Charles University of Prague, the St. Thomas University School of Law in Miami, the Universities of Wellington and Waikato Te Piringa, in New Zealand, the University of Tulane in New Orleans, the Romanian-American University in Bucharest, and the Central European University in Budapest.

He has been a Professor at the Academy of European Law at the European University Institute in Fiesole and is a member of the editorial committees of The Italian Yearbook of International Law, the Intercultural Human Rights Law Review, and the editorial series Cultural Heritage Law and Policy (Oxford University Press). He has published seven books (including two monographs) and over 100 academic articles.